MEMORANDUM FOR: Executive Director, NPIC

25X1

25X1 25X1 25X1

25X1

25X1

25X1

NPIC/TDS/D-894-67 20 June 1967

1. As suggested by you and the attached request 25X1 for the consulting services of was held in abeyance 25X1 pending the outcome of the following developments:  a. The interview on 15 June of applicant for the position of human factors scientist with NPIC/TDS. Dr. proved to be a strong candidate for the available position, with an especially promising competence in the area of experimental design, but he was the first to admit that his knowledge in the areas of visual perception and perceptual training could not approach that of a leader in the psychological field; additionally, it was bosition that the services of expert consultants such as could only aid and complement him in the efficiency with which he would perform his in-house duties at NPIC.  b. The concurrence of Chief, Assessment and 25X1 Evaluation Staff, OMS, with TDS technical personnel on the advisability of procuring the services of both agreed that the achievement and professional maturity levels of the two men could not be compared and that each would serve in his can distinct role, cooperating with the other as appropriate. Dr. personnel and security processing is continuing under Dr. jurisdiction.  2. The attached request is therefore now resubmitted for your approval with the hope that a swift decision will enable TDS to utilize 25X1 greatly needed insight and experience in the very near future 25X1.	SUBJECT : Request for Consulting Services
cant for the position of human factors scientist with NPIC/TDS. Dr.  proved to be a strong candidate for the available position, with an especially promising competence in the area of experimental design, but he was the first to admit that his knowledge in the areas of visual perception and perceptual training could not approach that of a leader in the psychological field; additionally, it was position that the services of expert consultants such as could only aid and complement him in the efficiency with which he would perform his in-house duties at NPIC.  b. The concurrence of Chief, Assessment and 25X1 Evaluation Staff, OMS, with TDS technical personnel on the advisability of procuring the services of both agreed that the achievement and professional maturity levels of the two men could not be compared and that each would serve in his cwn distinct role, cooperating with the other as appropriate. Dr. personnel and security processing is continuing under Dr. jurisdiction.  2. The attached request is therefore now resubmitted for your approval with the hope that a swift decision will enable TDS to utilize 25X1  greatly needed insight and experience in the very near future 25X1  Colonel, USAF	for the consulting services of was held in abevence
Evaluation Staff, OMS, with TDS technical personnel on the advisability of procuring the services of both	cant for the position of human factors scientist with NPIC/TDS. Dr.  proved to be a strong candidate for the available position, with an especially promising competence in the area of experimental design, but he was the first to admit that his knowledge in the areas of visual perception and perceptual training could not approach that of  a leader in the psychological field; additionally, it was position that the services of expert consultants such as could only aid and complement him in the efficiency.	25X1 agreed that the achievement and professional maturity levels of the two men could not be compared and that each would serve in his cwn distinct role, cooperating with the other as appropriate. Dr. personnel and security processing is continuing under Dr. jurisdiction.  2. The attached request is therefore now resubmitted for your approval with the hope that a swift decision will enable TDS to utilize 25X1 greatly needed insight and experience in the very near future 25X1.	b. The concurrence of, Chief, Assessment and Evaluation Staff, OMS, with TDS technical personnel on the advisability	25X1
greatly needed insight and experience in the very near future  25X1  Colonel, USAF	agreed that the achievement and professional maturity levels of the two men could not be compared and that each would serve in his own distinct role, cooperating with the other as appropriate. Dr. personnel and security processing is continuing under Dr.
greatly needed insight and experience in the very near future  25X1  Colonel, USAF	with the hope that a swift decision will enable TDS to utilize greatly needed insight and experience in the very near future
The state of the s	Colonel, USAF Assistant for Technical Development, NPIC

SECRET

SUBJECT: Request for Consulting Services

Attachments:

NPIC/D-102-67

Distribution:

Orig & 1 - Addressee

1 - NPIC/O/A/TD 3 - NPIC/TDS/DS

